

Excellent Opportunity in our HR Department

There is something very rewarding about working in an industry that produces healthy, fresh produce. At S&A we are extremely proud of our high-quality produce and the dedication and passion of those that work for us.

Most of our agricultural colleagues work for us seasonally and travel to us from all over the EU and UK.

Most of our colleagues live on our farms, and each site can accommodate up to 550 workers.

The role of an SLO is to support our workers to overcome behavioural, emotional, or social barriers in order for them to embed into the business. In addition, the person will be responsible for coordinating appointments, translating and training.
